Äsno produces Powsurfers, which are handmade pieces of riding art intended for riders of a high skill level only. For your own personal safety, please take the utmost care in your usage and be aware that as much fun as the Äsno may provide, it involves the inherent risk of serious material damage, personal injury and death. Always wear a Helmet and Protection Gear when riding an Äsno Board. Using the Äsno in any way is done so on the own, personal and sole risk of the rider and Äsno GmbH may not be held responsible in any way for the consequences of this action!

Äsno Pow Surfers are not designed for use with any sort of bindings to connect the rider and the board, this therefore, creates not only new riding challenges but crashes and accidents may occur that are not common with snowboarding etc. The Äsno Powsurfer is designed to be used like a Surfboard in snow and can easily break just like a Surfboard or even a Skateboard i.e when landing in the flat. The Äsno Powsurfer needs to be attached to the rider with a leash. This leash will not fix the rider to the board, but prevents loss of control of the Äsno Powsurfer or allowing it from escaping and creating an endless range of possible destruction only. Also be aware, the leash itself has potential dangers to health and life (e.g. strangulation). It can break, with hazardous consequences and serious danger to life, personal or third party injury, material damage and all other unforeseen consequences. In the case of a crash, the Powsurfer still has a wide range (depending on the length of the leash plus the length of the board and riders body) to hit things, third parties and also the rider himself. Serious injuries up to death may result with using the Äsno Pow Surfer. Therefore, always be very, very cautious when using the Äsno Pow Surfer to ensure that anybody and anything can be damaged or injured.

Always respect and ride within your skill level, environmental circumstances and the potential dangers of the Äsno Pow Surfer. The Äsno Pow Surfer is intended for riding in backcountry and may not be used within ski-areas or on slopes of any type. Be aware that back-country-riding, as such, is a very dangerous activity and you might lose your life or suffer serious injury, even when implementing all possible security measures and all possible security equipment such as Avanlanche Receiver, Probe, Shovel etc.

Always be aware of the general alpine risks, that need to be added to the dangers and risk to the use of a pow-surfer as such. Use the Äsno pow surfer in a safe environment only, depending on your skills and the given conditions. New safety techniques unique to the Äsno Pow Surfer need to be acquired to have the skills to ride an Äsno pow-surfer in open terrain safely. Always be aware that riding the Äsno Pow Surfer is inherently dangerous and may cause serious damage to material and or injury up to death to yourself or to others. Never ride too close to any obstacle or another person while always considering the wide range of potential disasters and destruction the Äsno Pow Surfer has due to not being attached to your feet with bindings (it has a range of the including leash, board and body length to go and cause serious damage... be super-cautious!) Any impact, accident etc. may also damage or destroy the Äsno pow surfer as such. These are considered normal wear and tear and are not the responsibility of Äsno GmbH.

Not being a close-to-professional rider (as well on snowboard as on surfboard!) you shall not ride the Äsno Pow Surfer at all – it is just too dangerous.

Ensure that the Äsno Pow Surfer can not be used by any unauthorized person and use it yourself only if you are totally aware of the dangers to yourself and the belongings, health and life of other people. Pow Surfing is a very dangerous sport! Always check the board and leash before riding as well as the terrain you want to ride – to ensure to ride a proper product far away from any third parties so that you can not damage others and free of alpine risks like avalanches etc.

Due to several reasons it is not allowed to use (ride) the Äsno Powsurfer product in the USA, Canada and Australia!

Sorry, the Äsno Powsurfer is just for decorations in those countries.

Warranty

Äsno products are made for pow-surfing, an outdoor sport involving loads of risks. One is damaging your material. Any possible repair of material can only take place by professionals. Äsno can not cover any damage caused by rock or other impact damage, normal wear and tear, any mounting of bindings or ropes, misuse/abuse or anything other than defects in material or workmanship at the time of sale for 1 year (or longer if needed to be extended by applicable law).

Please understand that an Äsno Powsurfer is a Handmade Piece of Art which is not build to flex (like a snowboard) and that it does break (much like a skate or surfboard) when landing to flat for example. So if you decide to take out an Äsno powsurf despite all warnings that it is only a piece of art made to hang on a wall, be aware that it is full of risk's.
